Fall 2022: Game Over An EDGE Series on Death

This EDGE series answers questions common to middle school youth about death. These six EDGE Nights present the teachings of the Catholic Church relating to death and eternal life and give youth ample opportunities to discuss the main concepts and integrate new information. Since death is a large and sometimes scary topic, youth will be encouraged and empowered through hope while exploring the content through the story and world of video games.

Spring 2023: A Great Marvel An EDGE Series on the Four Cardinal Virtues

What is it about superheroes that we find so fascinating? How is it that their characters continue to inspire generation after generation? How is it that their stories never get old? Superheroes are the ones who stand for what is right and defend those in need. They, in many ways, reveal the qualities of virtue and inspire us as we are drawn into their stories. Heroes protect what is good and provide for us examples of what it looks like to do the same. A Great Marvel uses examples of different superheroes to introduce youth to the four cardinal virtues and inspire them to grow in those virtues in their own lives.
